

Published by Japan Camera Hunter. December 2017

People Reading by S A Robinson

Simon's book is exactly what the title implies, people reading something of some sort in different environs. He processes his film in the kitchen, scans it in the dining room and prints it on a big Epson printer in the spare bedroom.

It may sound like a boring premise, but Simon makes it interesting with a variety of interesting angles and situations.

It's actually quite fascinating studying people's posture and body language when taking in information. What I took away from this was regardless of age, race, economic success, etc. reading is a pure human activity like laughing.

Volume 1 of 5, you can snap them up over at <http://fistfulofbooks.com/product/people-reading-volumes-1-5/>

Copyright Japan Camera Hunter 2017